DON'T JUST COMMUNICATE, CONNECT!

With Mercury, you can do what you need to do and what you want to do! Communicate face to face with friends and family, send e-mail, surf the Internet, watch movies on DVDs, upload photos, play games, control your television and VCR, and so much more.

DURABLE AND PORTABLE

Mercury's streamlined, tablet-style design and strong aluminum case provides additional protection for internal components and the shock-mounted drives. Mercury also has a moisture-resistant sealed touch screen.

Mercury's foldaway handle makes it convenient to transport between home, work, school or anywhere else you want to be. For additional protection and convenience, tuck it away in our optional backpack-style carrying case.

ENVIRONMENTAL CONTROL

Use Mercury to manage household appliances or an entertainment system and gain greater independence. Included on every device are pre-programmed infrared signals for most brands of televisions, VCRs, DVD players, satellite and cable receivers.

This eliminates the inconveniences associated with programming an environmental control unit (ECU). Additionally, the Mercury's X-10 command set allows users to turn on and off lights and household appliances (additional equipment required).

COMMUNICATION BOARDS

Functionally Speaking, developed by Tobii ATI, contains 3 sets of boards that give evice users a powerful and flexible communication solution. The boards cover a wide range of conversational topics for use at home, school, and in the community. (Requires communication software.)
